CHERRY PECTORAL

For the Cure of
COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

Of all the numerous medicines extant, (and some of them valuable) for the cure of pulmonary complaints, nothing has ever been found which could compare in its effects with this Preparation. Others cure sometimes, but at all times and in all diseases of the lungs and the throat where medicine can give relief, this will do it. It is pleasant to take, and perfectly safe in accordance with the directions. We do not advertise for the information of those who have tried it, but those who have not. Families who have known its value will not be without it, and by its timely use, they are secure from the dangerous consequences of Coughs and Colds, which neglected, ripen into fatal consumption.

The Diploma of the Massachusetts Institute was awarded to this preparation by the Board of Judges in September, 1847; also, the Medals of the three Great Institutes of Art in this country; also the Diploma of the Ohio Institute at Cincinnati, has been given to the Cherry Pectoral by their Government in consideration of its extraordinary excellence and usefulness in curing affections of the Lungs and Throat.

Read the following opinion founded on the long experience of the eminent Physician of the Port and City of ST. JOHNS, May 8, 1851.

Dr. J. C. AYER.—Five years trial of your CHERRY PECTORAL in my practice has proven what I foresaw from its composition must be true, that it eradicates and cures the colds and coughs to which we, in this section, are peculiarly liable.

I think its equal has not yet been discovered, nor do I know how a better remedy can be made for the distempers of the Throat and Lungs.

J. J. BURTON, M. D., F. R. S.

See what it has done on a wasted constitution, not only in the following cases, but a thousand more:

SUDBURY, Jan. 24th, 1851.

Dr. Ayer—In the month of July last I was attacked by a violent Diarrhoea in the mines of California. I returned to San Francisco in hope of receiving benefit from a change of climate and diet. My Diarrhoea ceased, but was followed by a severe cough and much soreness. I finally started for home, but received no benefit from the voyage. My cough continued to grow worse, and when I arrived in New York I was at once marked by my acquaintances as a victim of consumption. I must confess that I saw no sufficient reason to doubt what my friends all believed. At this time I commenced taking your truly invaluable medicine with little expectation of deriving any benefit from its use. You would not receive these lines did I not regard it my duty to state to the afflicted, through you, that my health, in the space of eight months, is fully restored. I attribute it to the use of your Cherry Pectoral.

Yours truly,
WILLIAM W. SMITH.

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 12, 1848.

Dear Sir: Feeling that I have been spared from a premature grave, through your instrumentality by the providence of God, I will take the liberty to express to you my gratitude.

A cough and the alarming symptoms of Consumption had reduced me too low to leave me anything like hope, when my physician brought me a bottle of your "Pectoral." It seemed to afford immediate relief, and now in a few weeks time has restored me to sound health.

If it will do for others what it has for me, you are certainly one of the benefactors of mankind.

Sincerely wishing you every blessing, I am,
Very respectfully yours,
JOHN J. CLARKE, Rector of St. Peter's Church.

With such assurance and from such men, no stronger proof can be adduced unless it be from its effects upon trial.

ZINC PAINTS,

WARRANTED PURE.

The New Jersey Zinc Co.,
WAREHOUSE 45 DEY STREET,
NEW YORK,

ARE prepared to supply their Zinc Paints at the following prices:

No. 1 White, ground in oil, 9c per lb.
No. 2 White, ground in oil, 8c per lb.
No. 3 White, ground in oil, 7c per lb.
Brown and Black, ground in oil, 8c per lb.
Dry White of Zinc, 6c per lb.

WHITE ZINC PAINT,

After thorough test in Europe and the United States, has been found to obtain its beauty and protective qualities longer than any other paint. For whiteness and brilliancy, it is unrivalled; it is free from all poisonous properties, is common and dangerous, in white lead. It covers an equal weight, from 40 to 100 per cent more surface than lead, and is, therefore, much cheaper to the consumer. As an inside paint, it will not turn yellow, even when exposed to the sulphurous vapors of coal fires or the foul air of ships. The White Zinc ground in varnish produces the porcelain finish.

Their

Brown and Black Zinc Paints

in a few hours form a hard and solid metallic coating upon wood, brick, iron and other metallic surfaces, and are remarkable for their fire-proof properties. They are specially adapted for covering purposes, having been found to resist the corroding action of salt water so destructive to other paints.

Dealers supplied on liberal terms by
MANNING & SQUIER, Agents,
45 Dey st., New York.

Also sold at wholesale and retail by GEO. W. EMERSON, Druggist, No. 1 Smith Block, Agent for Bangor.

This Essence was awarded a silver medal by the American Institute of New York, also a premium by the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia, 1851, both institutions the highest premiums for such articles.

THE BACHELOR'S BURIAL.

A PARODY ON THE "BURIAL OF LOVE."

Two lone old maids at shut of day,
A bachelor's body bore away;
With wrinkled brow and matted hair,
And heart which never loved the fair.

Bring briars, they groaned, bring weeds unblown;
Bring rankest plants of name unknown,
Bring withered boughs from dreary wild,
To strew the bier of Error's child.

And make his grave where the lizards hide,
Where nightshade strews the swamp-creek's side,
For out of sight—where gentle Spring
Shall send no gentle birds to sing.

His old jack-knife lay with him low
That cut the string of Cupid's bow;
The sad house-cat shall whine around
His lonely grave in grief profound.

We shall not mourn him long, nor miss
His unshorn face that none would kiss;
But plant a thorn-bush at his feet,
That here may grow no daisies sweet.

Low lay him who was often "high,"
Here, where shall gaze no pitying eye;
For him—for him no loving heart
Shall ache—for him no tear shall start.

His bloodless limbs shall fall to dust;
The old jack-knife shall waste with rust;
He, whom we hide from sight of men,
Shall never fright the babes again.

For we have lain him from the light
Beneath the ground and out of sight;
But this rude epitaph shall stand—
"He who to no one gave his hand!"

A PERILOUS BALLOON ASCENSION. The following account of an ascension made by a foolish aeronaut, we copy from the Paris correspondence of the Republic:

I mentioned some weeks ago that M. Coste, one of the late editors of the Assemblée, had deserted journalism for aeronautics. The third ascent of this gentleman, ten days ago, was the most perilous in aerostatic annuals. The wind had been violent all day, and at 6 o'clock in the afternoon, the hour of departure, the balloon, instead of being of the form of a pear, looked more like the letter S. M. Godard advised his pupil not to venture; all the gentlemen who had engaged places in the car refused to embark; and the audience were upon the point of opposing the ascent, when M. Coste, taking advantage of a lull in the wind, jumped into his place, and gave the order to let go. His departure could not have been called an ascent; his upward motion was so slight that he barely escaped the roof sheltering the seats of the Hippodrome; but his speed horizontally was terrific. In less than thirty seconds he was out of sight, and the universal belief was that he never would be seen again alive. He soon found himself in the midst of the clouds that were causing all the commotion, and knowing that it was impossible to descend, he determined to soar above them. He threw out thirty pounds of ballast, and was soon conscious that the balloon was ascending rapidly; but so extended were the clouds that it was only at an elevation of 22,000 feet (four miles) that he came in view of the sun and left the wind below him. He speedily found that he could not remain in so rarified an atmosphere; his ears hummed, his breathing was difficult, and pieces of paper that he threw over fell like lead. It became indispensable to descend, and to brave the fury of the elements as best he might. His strength was so reduced and friction was so remarkably increased, that he could not, until after repeated efforts, raise the valve, and allow a portion of the gas to escape. At such an altitude the ascensional force of gas is doubled, and when the valve opened a quantity was discharged that at once destroyed the balance, and the balloon began to descend furiously.—M. Coste threw out everything that he could dispense with, and lashed himself to the car. The earth began soon to appear, and to approach at a frightful rapidity. The balloon struck sideways, and ploughed up the field for some twenty yards. The aeronaut freed himself from his cordage, and jumped ashore unhurt. The balloon, lightened of a hundred or more pounds, was off again in a twinkling; but M. Coste caught hold of the anchor-rope, which is always allowed to hang, and suffering himself to be taken up a dozen yards, brought the balloon back. By this time assistance had arrived, and a party of stout peasants bound the frantic machine to a tree, where it was disinflated. M. Coste arrived at the Hippodrome the next morning, at ten o'clock, and was received as a man risen from the dead. He had been given up as lost by all who saw him start. Nothing daunted, he has made three ascensions since, and has seen nothing yet, he says, to dissuade him from adopting the career of an aeronaut. M. Coste was the only editor of the Assemblée that never was imprisoned for a delit de presse. One would suppose that a man of such energy and unbounded spunk would be one of the first to get himself into limbo for too unbridled a use of his pen.

HIGH-MINDED.—Yesterday morning, a man in his shirt sleeves, rushed into the Clerk's office, and requested a marriage license. The Deputy informed him that he must apply to the Probate Judge. "Stranger," said he, "if you'll show me where that are, I'll give you a shilling, and I'm in a deuced hurry."

When next heard of he was with his intended before a Justice, who inquired "why he did not go home and put on his coat, and be married like a gentleman." "Sho! Squire," said he, "it don't make the least bit of difference, and if I go to the boat after my coat, I may lose the gal. There's two fellers wants her, and she don't care which she has."

The silken cord that bound two willing hearts was tied, the bride informing the Squire, that he needn't have said that part about putting asunder, because there was no danger of that.

The Squire took his fee, and said, "I hope you have a good wife."

"Wal, he has," responded the bride; "and," added the bridegroom, "I calculate I'm booty well to do in the world. I'm captain of a coal boat and she's going to be hand cook; and if you'll come aboard, Squire, I'll astonish you with a warm meal."—[Cleveland Herald.

A negro boy about ten years of age, belonging to Charleston, South Carolina, being desirous of paying Wilmington a visit, got under the guard of the steamer Gladiator, just aft the wheel, and placing his feet on the shoulder of the boat, (a large beam near the water line, designed to keep the craft "upright and steady,") clasping a beam which stood convenient near, got over safely. The distance is about one hundred and seventy miles, and the night was quite tempestuous. On being asked whether he slept during the night, he replied, "Golly! no, massa; didn't have no time."

WHIG NOMINATIONS.

FOR PRESIDENT,

WINFIELD SCOTT.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

WILLIAM A. GRAHAM

OF NORTH CAROLINA.

FOR GOVERNOR,

William G. Crosby

OF BELFAST.

FOR CONGRESS

ISRAEL WASHBURN, JR.

The Whigs of the country have deliberated upon the great interests involved in the welfare of our political institutions, in the perpetuity of the noble form of government which the patriot fathers have bequeathed to us, and have named the standard bearer whom they would have guide the nation onward in the path of its progress to the accomplishment of the high uses it is capable of performing. The name of Gen. WINFIELD SCOTT is associated with many of the brightest pages in its history since the days when it passed from the administration hands of the venerable fathers. His renown is world-wide as the greatest military leader of his age, and possessed of administrative powers and masterly execution, which could not but succeed in any department of human science to which they may be turned. His fame, great as it is in military science, is not confined to that. In numerous civil trusts of great importance and delicacy he has shown a far seeing wisdom, an unfailing ability, and a well balanced prudence, which have secured him long since the hearty plaudits and approval of his government and his fellow citizens at large. In all his long connection actively with the government no stain of dishonor or suspicion has attached to him. His character is pre-eminently stamped with unshrinking integrity as a man and an officer. His nomination is both an earnest and a pledge that the Whigs of the country trust in him, and with his name borne upon their banners they will manfully struggle for his election, as the great leader of his party, the conservator of the public peace and the hero of the times, who is to lead our Israel into the Canaan of a higher destiny. In General Scott, the Whigs have given the country a candidate who is known throughout the civilized world—a candidate of experience in public affairs, who will devote all his powers to the securing to the whole country the highest advantages. He is a Whig of the right stamp—making progress without haste, and conservative without torpidity. His life and qualities of mind and heart will appeal more and more to the confidence and enthusiastic support of the Whigs of the country, and if justice were done, the support of the whole country, without distinction of party. He is a patriot and a hero, ever holding himself and his own interests in strict subordination to the welfare and honor of his country.

The nomination of Gen. Scott will give confidence of success and arouse his party to generous efforts.

We fling the Whig banner to the breeze brightly inscribed with the name of General Winfield Scott as the great leader of the Whig cause—as the representative of the political measures, and republican principles and just policy of the Whig party. We shall labor zealously and cheerfully in support of the ticket, presented and in the fullest conviction that its success at the polls will redound to the highest welfare of our political institutions and the most favorable issues to the prosperity and happiness of the people.

JUSTICE IN FRANCE.—The following case is related as a sample of the administration of something called justice under the restoration of the Bourbons in France. A retired Captain of Gendarmes had been summoned as a witness in some law proceeding, when he was unexpectedly ordered to step up to the bar, and informed that he was wearing seditious buttons on his overcoat. By the help of the officer who had given notice of the fact, one button was discovered near the collar of his coat stamped "Imperial Gendarme." The defence made was that it was an old coat, the buttons of which he had caused to be replaced by new ones, and that his tailor must have overlooked the guilty button. The jury condemned the officer to three months imprisonment, 60 francs fine, security for 100 francs, etc.

☞ The Rev. John Atwood, who was so relentlessly hunted down by General Pierce and others of the Concord Junto, for having expressed an opinion that the fugitive slave law ought to be modified, has virtually given in his adhesion to the Democratic nomination. The Democracy of his town, (New Boston,) had a demonstration one day last week, in honor of Pierce's nomination. Mr. Atwood, (as we learn from the Manchester Union Democrat,) "sympathised cordially" with it, and "furnished material aid to carry it out."

☞ A gentleman from Maine, on a visit to Charleston, South Carolina, writes to the Christian Mirror, that there are five thousand Methodist colored communicants in and near Charleston, and their contributions for benevolent purposes during the year past, amounted to more than three dollars a member.

Resolutions Passed by the Whig National Convention.

The Whigs of the United States, in Convention assembled, adhering to the great conservative principles by which they are controlled and governed, and now, as ever, relying upon the intelligence of the American people, with an abiding confidence in their capacity for self-government, and their devotion to the constitution and the Union, do proclaim the following as the political sentiments and determination, for the establishment and maintenance of which their national organization as a party was effected:

1. The government of the United States is of a limited character, and it is confined to the exercise of powers expressly granted by the constitution, and such as may be necessary and proper for carrying the granted powers into full execution, and that all powers not granted or necessarily implied are expressly reserved to the States respectively and to the people.

2. The State governments should be held secure in their reserved rights, and the General Government sustained in its constitutional powers, and that the Union should be revered and watched over as the palladium of our liberties.

3. That while struggling freedom, everywhere, enlists the warmest sympathy of the Whig party, we still adhere to the doctrines of the Father of his country, as announced in his Farewell Address, of keeping ourselves free from all entangling alliances with foreign countries, and of never quitting our own to stand upon foreign ground. That our mission as a Republic is not to propagate our opinions, or impose on other countries our form of government, by artifice or force, but to teach by example, and show by our success, moderation and justice, the blessings of self-government, and the advantages of free institutions.

4. That as the people make and control the Government, they should obey its constitution, laws and treaties, as they would retain their self-respect, and the respect which they claim and will enforce from foreign powers.

5. Revenue sufficient for the expenses of an economical administration of the government, in time of peace, ought to be derived from a duty on imports, and not from direct taxation, and in laying such duties, sound policy requires a just discrimination, whereby suitable encouragement may be afforded to American industry, equally to all classes and to all parts of the country.

6. The Constitution vests in Congress the power to open and repair harbors; and remove obstructions from navigable rivers, whenever such improvements are necessary for the common defence and for the protection and facility of commerce with foreign nations or among the States; said improvements being in every instance, national and general in their character.

7. The Federal and State Governments are parts of one system, alike necessary for the common prosperity, peace and security, and ought to be regarded alike, with a cordial, habitual and immovable attachment. Respect for the authority of each, and acquiescence in the just constitutional measures of each, are duties required by the plainest consideration of national, State, and individual welfare.

8. That the series of acts of the Thirty-first Congress,—the Act known as the Fugitive Slave law, included—are received and acquiesced in by the Whig party of the United States, as a settlement in principle and substance, of the dangerous and exciting question which they embrace; and so far as they are concerned, we will maintain them and insist upon their strict enforcement until time and experience shall demonstrate the necessity of further legislation, to guard against the evasion of the law on the one hand, and the abuse of their powers on the other, not impairing their present efficiency; and we deprecate all further agitation of the question thus settled, as dangerous to our peace, and will discountenance all efforts to continue or renew such agitation whenever, wherever, or however the attempt may be made; and we will maintain this system as essential to the nationality of the Whig party of the Union.

Correspondence.

BALTIMORE, June 17, 1852.

The weather is oppressively hot, scorching, overpowering, and in the densely crowded convention there is excitement up to fever heat.—Each section is nervously watching the other and doubtful what shape affairs may take, and prepared for any event which may occur. The friends of the several candidates are active and zealous and hopeful, but owns up to this hour there are several State delegations who do not know how all their members will vote. This condition of things causes the convention to make slow progress, as every proposition must be weighed and canvassed and examined on all sides, that its real effect may be fully understood. With less doubt and jealousy the proceedings of the convention would move on smoothly and rapidly.

At the very opening of the convention this distrust was apparent. About fifteen minutes before twelve o'clock, when the Hall was densely packed with delegates and spectators, George C. Morgan arose for the purpose of calling the Convention to order, but the moment he commenced speaking, Simeon Draper of New York, in a stentorian voice, and with majesty of manner, called the Convention to order, and nominated Hon. George Evans of Maine as temporary Chairman. Mr. Draper is a New York auctioneer, and not likely to be embarrassed by noise and confusion, even in the street. It was a masterly executed performance and could not but win applause, even from those who might have preferred some other organization. This incident served at once to show the state of feeling, and to put every man upon his guard. It prevented any attempt at any manner of deception even if anything of the kind had been meditated.

The several reporters near me, whose communications to the press in several parts of the country are forwarded by telegraph, will reach you so much earlier than my letters, that it does not seem an object to pursue the matter.

You shall have early information by telegraph of all matter of sufficient interest to warrant its being thus forwarded.

The head quarters of the friends of the several candidates often present a very lively appearance. Last night the weather was too suffocating to allow of many persons sleeping, and discussions were kept up during the whole night.

The summer fruits are in the market in abundance, and the famous May Duke Cherries, white and the Black Tartarian Cherries are now in their prime, as are also strawberries, and other cooling and delicious fruits.

Yours, S.

☞ A government sloop-of-war was offered at public auction at Norfolk a day or two since, but was bought in by an agent of the government for $8000. The person who made the bid previous to the last made by the government, claims the vessel, on the grounds that she was advertised to be sold.

Metropolitan Hotel, New York.

From the description in the New York Times, this Hotel surpasses all other hotels in its arrangements and accommodations. It is 300 feet on Broadway and extends back 210 feet from Prince to Crosby street. The whole length of the passages and stairways is upwards of two miles. The length of the gas and water pipes is about five miles. Baggage passes from one floor to another by dumb waiters. The Times says:

"The proprietors of the Metropolitan Hotel have undertaken to transcend everything that is in existence. Sums that stagger credulity have been spent in its erection and furniture. The building itself is capacious enough to hold the population of a town. There are some five hundred rooms, one-fourth of which are designed for families, and are fitted up with every luxury of baths, dressing rooms, and parlors. Suite after suite is elaborately adorned with the richest of fresco painting, and paneling. Every one of the six stories boasts those essentials to health, elevated ceilings, free circulation of air, and numerous bath rooms. The mirror glass for the windows cost $35,000. The architectural designs are extremely elaborate, and meet the eye at all points. And the furniture corresponds with the beauty of the various apartments. Mirrors, exceeding in size any hitherto imported into America; Brussels, Turkey, and Tapestry carpets, by the acre; Rosewood sofas, lounges, chairs, rockers, dressing-cases, tables, etc., etc., in sufficient quantities to stock fifty ware-houses; curtains of the richest material and dye; washstands built of the costliest statuary marble; such are a few of the provisions for the comfort of lodgers at the Metropolitan Hotel.

The dining-room is a triumph of taste. Its size surprises the eye, and its lavish ornament gratifies it. The room is not broken up by intrusive columns. The windows, opening upon one side into Prince street, and on the other into the hotel yard, are respectively surmounted by the arms of the various States. The room is so effectually ventilated that at no season is the diner apt to find fault with excessive heat, or oppressive closeness in the air. After examining the capital fixtures for raising the food from the kitchen, and doing the carving in an apartment at the eastern end of the saloon, it is worth while to visit the kitchen underneath, where every arrangement appears to be perfect. This is the feature, that the Brothers LELAND, the landlords, especially pride themselves. They are famous as the very best of purveyors, and for the selection of cooks and exquisite taste and liberality in providing the table, they stand foremost among epicures. The kitchen is accordingly thoroughly furnished at all points. Every facility is within reach for each culinary detail, and Soyer himself could not make out a defect. The arrangements are thoroughly and generously carried out in the kitchen, wine vault and dining-hall, and even in the butler's and chamber. And while on this ground, we must not overlook the smoking . . . rooms and . . . engine, by which hot and cold water is driven into every room and the entire building heated."

"This hotel is intended to accommodate private families, as well as travellers—the high rents in the city being a great obstacle in the way of house-keeping. It will be open about the first of August."

"The Whig" has, or rather says, it is "tomfoolery" to hang out the national flag with the names of Pierce and King displayed upon it. If this is "tomfoolery," pray what is it to make and tote about log-cabins, to put live raccoons upon the platforms, whig ..., or their skins for the ..., ..., display wooden door-latches with leather strings, wooden drinking bowls, short pipes, etc., etc.! —Democrat.

Well, we were concerned a little in that business once, and while we look back upon it, we must admit it was "something more than tomfoolery."

☞ The Bath Tribune announces the death in that city, of Hon. William King, aged 84 years, who was a member of the Legislature of Massachusetts when Maine formed a part of that State, and was subsequently the first Governor of Maine, Commissioner on the Spanish Claims, Commissioner for the erection of the State House, at Augusta, and for many years Collector of Customs for Bath. He was a person who received high military distinction, and was first Grand Master of the Masonic Fraternity in Maine.

☞ The soubriquet, "the Young Hickory," as applied to General Pierce, does not seem to take with the Democracy, as James K. Polk had a prescriptive right to the title. The admirers of Pierce, therefore, propose to call him "the Eagle of the North," which is sufficiently high sounding for campaign purposes, and has the merit of originality.

☞ The Paris correspondent of the New York Commercial says that each American paper is worn for a time excluded by the police from Paris, seem to have been again restored to favor.

☞ Uncle Tom's Cabin has been re-published in England. The Sixtieth thousand has been published in this country.

☞ The Liquor bill was laid on the table by the New Hampshire Legislature on the 18th.

THE DEATH OF JOHN ADAMS. The Pennsylvanian, in a series of glances at Congress, gives the following:

"A touching incident is told by Mr. Webster, of the father of Mr. Adams, the celebrated John Adams. It is no less applicable to Mr. Clay, whose lamp of life lingers like an October sunset before night descends, than it was to Mr. Adams himself. Mr. Webster called to see John Adams on one of the loveliest days in June, (Mr. Adams died on the next 4th of July) and found him in a more cheerful mood than usual. He congratulated him upon his apparently improved health, and predicted for him years of comfort. 'You are mistaken, Mr. Webster,' said the sage. 'My days upon earth are few and numbered. I am the tenant of a miserable, worn out old mansion; and what is worse than all, the landlord refuses to make any more repairs.'"

SAD MISTAKE. On Monday evening, Mrs J. W. Ford, the wife of the Universalist Clergyman in this city, drank from a bottle what she supposed to be some harmless drink or medicine, and had swallowed a mouthful before discovering that she had made a terrible mistake, and had swallowed washing fluid—a strong corrosive alkali. She was immediately thrown into terrible pain. Dr. Bridgman having been called, procured emetic very quickly, and then administered oils. It is feared that inflammation will follow, and that the lady will lose her life.—Springfield Republican.

QUEER ACCIDENT. A man by the name of Robbins, from Sandwich, with two small girls, was passing through Yarmouth village in a carriage on Saturday, when the horse was seized with a fit, and commenced running round violently in a circle in the road. The children succeeded in getting out of the carriage without difficulty; but Mr. Robbins being disabled from breaking his leg a few weeks before, was unable to extricate himself, and was thrown upon the ground and the same leg broken in another place. The sufferer was carried to the Marine Hospital in Hyannis, where his disabled limb was set.—Yarmouth Register.

WASHINGTON, June 20.

A call is about to be issued for a National Convention of the Free Democracy, at Pittsburgh, on the 11th of August, to nominate candidates for President and Vice President.—It will be a second edition of the famous Buffalo Convention of 1848. The nomination of Pierce, it appears, does not suit the entire party.

HARTFORD, 21.

As the Whigs were firing a national salute of one hundred guns, in honor of Scott's nomination, a man went up just as one of the guns was discharged, and was torn to pieces. He leaves a wife and six children.

BUFFALO June 21.

The nomination seems to have been cheerfully acquiesced in by the Whigs. The platform also meets their entire approbation.

NEW HAVEN, 21.

The nomination of Gen Scott is received here with great enthusiasm.

DETROIT, 21.

The greatest enthusiasm prevails in this city at the nomination of Gen. Scott.

THE ART UNION. A new basis for the Art Union is proposed in case the decision of the Court against its legality should be sustained. It is proposed to strike out from the constitution of the Association all that conflicts with the law of the State; to abolish the distribution by lot, and to retain the fund with such increase as may be added by new subscribers, and to devote it to the encouragement of art by the purchase of pictures, to be the property of the individual shareholders whenever their stock in the concern, with the accumulated interest, shall reach the value of a picture.—Providence Journal.

FEMALE BEAUTY. Ideas of female beauty are somewhat conventional. In this country, for instance, a small and neat ankle is considered indispensable in the making up of a fashionable belle; but in some parts of New Mexico, the women stuff their stockings with wool, which gives to their ankles the graceful appearance of elephant's legs.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.
We have not infrequently called attention to this article in the columns of our paper, and we have done so with the full confidence that it was a good one, and deserving the patronage of the public! We have, had nichances to witness its effects upon some of our friends, which, in addition to the high encomiums passed upon it by our brethren of the press, . . . but in honest candid statements, found having derived a benefit themselves, makes us desirous of advising all times who have occasion to resort to a remedy for pulmonary affections, to avail themselves of it. We have too much confidence in Mr. Fowle, the general agent, to believe he would, thrust this, or any other medicine upon the community, unless he had full faith in its efficacy—in confirmation of which the proprietor offers a share of testimony from the most unquestionable sources. Neither would we be understood as saying that this will always cure Consumption after it is seated, although it seldom fails to relieve the worst cases—but at this season of the year, almost every body is liable to a cold, which, if neglected, will lead to fatal results—by taking this medicine, we doubt not many lives may be saved.

25,000 Sold per Year!!
The Unsurpassed and Unsurpassable

Bay State Stove,
OF SIX SIZES, of heavy and smooth castings—price from $15 to $50—celebrated for a whole cooking apparatus, carrying off the cake in broiling, and not to be exceeded in baking, frying, boiling, &c., &c., or in durability and economy—may be had, as heretofore, at the well known and long established

Stove, Furnace and Range
DEPOT,
Nos. 80 & 82 MAIN STREET, and 2 and 4 WALL STREET, OF

N. JOHNSON,
Who is SOLE Agent, and always has been, for this market, for the sale of the celebrated Stove above named, of which 25,000 were sold the past year, and of which some 30,000 will not be more than sufficient to supply the demand the present year.

The BAY STATE is sold and warranted as usual. Returned after an unsatisfactory trial of 30 days the price paid will be refunded, together with interest and cost of returning.

Persons purchasing the BAY STATE, and desiring repairs, are not subjected to the trouble of sending to Rhode Island or New York for castings, or to wait in Bangor for them, AS I HAVE THEM ON HAND!

A CHALLENGE OF $50
is proposed, that 50 Stoves [of six sizes, of any other pattern than the BAY STATE, (for which I am sole Agent,) cannot be produced which will compare with the 50 I now have on hand, in thickness and smoothness of Castings, or in facility and capacity of broiling, baking, boiling, or other cooking requisite.

☞ The public are specially requested not to mistake a Stove called the "IMPROVED" BAY STATE, which is a cheaper and inferior article, of thinner and less durable castings, and which is sometimes advertised without the word 'Improved' as a prefix, for the original and genuine BAY STATE, which has been so generally and thoroughly tested and admired.

All other kinds of STOVES constantly on hand, as above, which will be sold at reduced prices.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

WASHINGTON, JULY 21, 1848.

During the time I occupied the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. EDDY, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office as Solicitor for procuring Patents. There were few, if any, persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
